HOSPITAL DRIVE GOING ON

$10,000 HAD BEEN SUBSCRIBED IN GETTYSBURG BEFORE DRIVE

McSherrystown Cigar Makers' Union Sends Drive Ball Rolling with a Gift of One Thousand Dollars.

The Hospital Drive for $100,000 for equipment and endowment for the Annie M. Warner Hospital has started with a bang and all along the line the money is beginning to come in. A few people in Gettysburg had been seen before the drive and $10,000 was in sight when the first day of the drive dawned October 15.

This first day was taken by McSherrystown to make a noble demonstration. A town meeting was arranged by F. V. Topper, director of the hospital in McSherrystown and a program was prepared to arouse public interest. Speakers from Gettysburg were asked to be present and they found the town filled with pep and enthusiasm for the drive.

This was expressed by the action of the Cigar Makers' Union No. 316, of McSherrystown, made known before the meeting. There was a special meeting of representatives of Hospital and Executive Committee of the Cigar Makers' Union to determine the shape the action of the Union would be in, and it was unanimously decided by the Executive Committee that the male ward on the first floor of the building would be furnished by Cigar Makers' Union and that the $1,000 voted by the Union would be paid over for this purpose. This ward is on the southern side of the building, and with the companion room on second floor are the finest rooms in the building, with beautiful scenery to the west, south and east. This ward will have from eight to ten beds. It will be there many free patients will be treated and the room will be properly marked as having been furnished by the Cigar Makers' Union. The action of the Executive Committee was considered highly appropriate.

The public meeting in St. Mary's Hall, of McSherrystown, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, the first public meeting of the drive, was well attended, nearly three hundred persons filling the hall.

The program was well arranged, good singing interspersing the speeches. Robert Hart, in charge of the musical program opened with a piano solo. The next number was a male quartet composed of D. W. Stahl, Robert Wireman, Edw. Bunty and Clarence Wireman and giving "The Chimes." Female quartet singing "Kentucky Babe" was composed of Misses Marie Timmins, Regina Lawrence, Louise Keffer and Helen Lawrence. The concluding number was "Caroline Sunshine" given by the double quartette.

Rev. Fr. Reudter was master of ceremonies. The first speaker was Wm. Arch. McClean, who told of Mr. and Mrs. Warner after the awful visitation of the flu, deciding to build the hospital and that its inspiration deserved the support and money of every man, woman and child in the county. Dr. McC. Dickson told of the opportunity the hospital gave for team work by the physicians of the county of which the people of the county would get the benefit. Dr. J. A. Singmaster spoke about the great blessings of a hospital and one Adams county had sorely needed.

Dr. Curtis Rice commended the undertaking in terms of highest praise, of the opportunity for team work of the physicians the hospital would give and of its life saving benefits, and when the five or six miles of bad mud road over the Bonneville road had been macadamized the shortest way to a hospital would be to Gettysburg and that the people of that section of the county would be serving their best interests by doing all in their power for the hospital.

Rev. Fr. Reudter closed the meeting by telling the people of McSherrystown that the visitors presenting the cause of the hospital had come down there for money and he advised that the course recommended by President Wilson should be followed, giving and giving until it hurts. He said the hospital stood for more than a humanitarian point of view. Giving to a hospital would be in accord with the Saviour's direction. That it was entirely proper to look up to the giving to a hospital as a religious and church duty, no matter to what denomination one belonged and he urged all the McSherrystown people to give liberally and cheerfully to the hospital.

The meeting in McSherrystown seemed fraught with results most propitious to the Hospital Drive and with $11,000 at the close of the first day and no returns of the general drive to be made in every part of the county, the promises of going over the top with $100,000 seem to be bright.

The first donation to the Hospital to be made public was that of the Centennial Fire Company, learned just after going to press last week. At a meeting of the Centennial Fire Company it was voted to donate $100 to the Hospital. The committee for that section of Mt. Pleasant township is composed of F. O. Noel, M. J. Smith and F. J. Hemler, who reported the donation. The progress of the drive in that section is declared to be most favorable.

BIG ORDER LANDED

For Manufacture of New Photographic Toy.

The American Drug and Chemical Company with offices and laboratory on the third floor of the First National Bank building, is a busy place these days. John D. Lippy is the sole proprietor of the company, which has landed a fat contract for the manufacture of a new chemical and scientific toy which was invented and patented by Mr. Lippy. The order comes from A. C. Gilbert Company of New Haven, Conn., one of the largest toy companies in the country. The first order will require 50,000 bottles and the entire output of the company will go to this company for many months. The toy is a photographic device for children.

A Baltimore traveling man taking orders for scientific laboratories after inspecting Mr. Lippy's plant, declared it to be one of the finest laboratories in Eastern Pennsylvania. It has been equipped to manufacture bottled goods, extracts, patent medicines, pills and tablets of all kinds. He controls all rights of Current's Vanillin and is building up a good business, not only of his own formulas and devices, but working for others along the same line. The handling of the new toy photographic device will require the installation of apparatus to assist in the speedy filling of order.

Harry L. Bream Murdered.

Harry L. Bream according to later news received, was not crushed to death as stated in our issue last week, but was foully murdered by a discharged employee. About a month ago Mr. Bream, while superintendent of the Humble Pipe Line Company, caught this employee stealing articles from his trunk and discharged him from duty. Not long after this occurrence Mr. Bream was given a vacation to recuperate from an injury in which several ribs had been cracked. Upon taking up his duties, he was superintending the movements of railroad cars coming into Comyn with material for his company. On Tuesday morning of last week while at the station looking after cars, the discharged employee crept up from the rear and hit him a terrific blow on the head with a baseball bat. The skull of Mr. Bream was crushed from ear to ear and he died a short time later the same day in the hospital to which he was taken.

Dr. H. L. Diehl is having the front of the store room in his property on Baltimore street beside the Gas Co.'s office, changed from a single show window to double show windows and a central entrance. The room will soon be occupied by the Stevens Drug Company of Carlisle, who will open a drug and cigar store.

SUPREME COURT HEARS

ARGUMENT OF COLLINS MURDER CASE.

Decision is Reserved and May be Filed at Any Session of that Court.

J. Donald Swope, representing the Commonwealth, and John D. Keith and George J. Lenner, representing Clarence Collins, appeared before the Supreme Court sitting in Pittsburgh on last Tuesday morning and argued the case. District Attorney Raymond F. Topper, slowly convalescing from his recent illness, under advice of physician, was unable to be present.

The report of the record of the case made a paper book of over three hundred pages and in addition the arguments of the Commonwealth and for defense were submitted in printed book form. The oral argument of the case lasted more than an hour, three-fourths of the time being taken up with the argument for the defense that the word vicinage meant county and that the act of 1870 creating a 500 yard zone along the borders of counties was unconstitutional.

The opinion of the Supreme Court will conclude the legal status of this case. The murder was committed Oct. 16, 1918. Collins and Reinecker were tried at the January court. The motion for a new trial was heard in June after the stenographer's notes had been written out in long hand and opinion of court was filed on August 25th and an appeal immediately taken.

PARENT-TEACHERS.

Hospital Support Urged as Part of Community Life.

An audience numbering between two and three hundred filled the auditorium of the High School at the first meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association for the school year last Friday evening. The entertainment features were music by the High School Orchestra, readings by Miss Elsie Gariach and the children of the second grade gave a song demonstration of Miss Borge's training.

Dr. J. A. Singmaster gave an address on the importance of the hospital, that the hospital and the public schools were closely related and urged that a deep interest be taken in it because it belongs to the community. The hospital is being built not only for the worn out and sick but also for the children. There will be a ward specially for children where the diseases of childhood will receive special attention.

Dr. Singmaster urged that every parent and scholar earnestly support the drive for funds for the hospital. Miss Helen Cove gave a brief report of "Our Public Schools," telling of the crowded condition at the High School, commending the co-operation of the parents in connection with the vaccination law. A night school had been opened for young men and women and this would make the school buildings of greater service to the town.

The names of twelve persons were proposed for membership in the organization. A visiting committee, consisting of Mrs. Emory Plank, Mrs. Levi Diehl, Mrs. Harry Culp, Mrs. Harry Geiselman and Mrs. Clifford Bream and a program committee of George Black, Miss Alice Miller and Mrs. H. Milton Roth were appointed.

Two Aged Natives Asphyxiated.

Mr. and Mrs. John McElwee died at their homes in Peru, Ind., from asphyxiation Monday night, Oct. 6. On Monday the aged people were in their usual health and it was not until the noon hour Wednesday that it was known in Peru that they had died while they were asleep in bed. Some relatives in the country were to have taken Mr. and Mrs. McElwee home for a short visit and when their son, Frank McElwee, residing one block away, made his usual visit to their residence Tuesday and could not gain admittance, he presumed that they had gone to the country. On Wednesday afternoon anxiety caused Frank to determine to enter the house through a window which he broke and found the house saturated with the odor of gas and immediately he went into the bedroom where his parents slept and there he found them dead. Upon investigation Mr. McElwee found a gas jet open in the dining room and the gas yet escaping from it. It is presumed that one of the aged persons had used the gas during the night and after turning the light off had opened the valve unconsciously.

John A. McElwee was born in Huntington township, on the farm now owned by Mrs. Annie E. Bream, Feb. 28, 1833, and his wife was born in York Springs Sept. 10 of the same year. Her maiden name was Miss Marie McGovern. In 1855 they were married and for sixty-four years they abided with each other. Forty years ago they moved to Indiana. Two sons and two daughters survive.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sharets and son Maurice Sharets, have returned to their home near town after a ten days' trip to Washington and Richmond.

Pennsylvania Offers Scholarships.

While King Albert, of Belgium, was traveling throughout the United States, he studied our educational system and expressed great admiration for it. He saw our little red school houses dotting every nook and corner of our land. No wonder that he said he now understood why America sent such wonderful men to fight the battles of democracy, that no other country educates like this country. It is true. America is a land of free schools, and each and every one has the same opportunity to secure the most precious thing on this earth.

Our own state has never lagged behind in educating her youth, but has always endeavored to lead the way in educational advances. Late last spring she stepped to the forefront when the Legislature passed a law providing a $100 scholarship to the high school graduate of each county making the highest grades in a competitive examination given by the State Department of Public Instruction. This scholarship may be used by the lucky winner to enter any state institution of learning. The scholarship is good for four years, provided that the student keeps in good standing and does good work while in the institution. Considering the fact that one of these scholarships is given every year to 80 new men and that they are good for 4 years, one can easily see that it is going to cost the state some money.

But the results will justify the expense of maintenance. Pennsylvania now shows to the world that she is willing to stand back of her youth in their earnest desire for a higher education. Hitherto private individuals and the colleges had to create the desire for many young men to at least try for an education with the small offers of help that they might be able to give. But now the state is willing to provide a higher education to the best of its high school graduates. The writer believes that this is only a small beginning on the part of the state to provide a higher education for its youth. If she can provide a common and high school education, can she not go a bit further and provide a college education? The applicants are examined in English, Mathematics, Science, Biology, Chemistry, or Physics, History, Ancient or American, and Languages, French, German, Latin, or Spanish.

R. O. T. C. Appointments at College.

During the past week Major Tuttle organized the entire unit of 141 men into two companies, A and B. J. D. Sherer was appointed acting captain of Company A with D. E. Putman, acting 1st lieutenant, P. D. Schwartz, acting 2nd lieutenant, and J. Peeling acting 1st sergeant. The appointments of Company B consist of C. Kattenhorn, acting captain, H. B. Rudisill, acting 1st lieutenant, H. W. Sternat, acting 2nd lieutenant, and F. G. Robinson, acting 1st sergeant. The officers and sergeants were drawn from the Senior class, while the corporals were selected from the Junior class. These appointments are only temporary and men will be promoted or demoted according to their ability and interest in their work. This should be an incentive to the lower classmen who wish to rise to non-coms.

The object of this fall's program is to go through the close order drill while the weather is favorable. When this has been satisfactorily accomplished, time will be devoted to more practical work within doors. The special feature of this prospective work will be rifle and pistol practice with 2 gallery rifle, 45 colt revolver, Springfield rifle, and automatic rifle. With a few exceptions, the entire unit has been fitted out in uniform consisting of hat and coat, shirt, blouse, breeches, belt, spirals, and shoes. More equipment is coming and will be here in time to supply the unneeded for Thursday's formation. Every man must appear in uniform at that time.

Permanent Insurance.

Many men who have dropped their War Risk Insurance, give as their reason for so doing, their dislike of the so-called 'red tape' involved. Upon further questioning, they immediately cite personal or hearsay cases of endless correspondence resulting from a seemingly hopeless tangle. Invariably these cases are found to have resulted from incorrect or incomplete accomplishment of the necessary application forms; or carelessness in the matter of payments. The Bureau, although overwhelmed for a time by the great volume of business, has made but few errors, if one considers them on a percentage basis; and that is the only fair basis. Moreover, it has constantly illuminated confusion and error of past cases; and made provisions against the future; and made efforts to avoid so-called 'red tape'. The latest move in this direction, comes through the provision that men now entering the service may, within 120 days after enlistment or entry into the active military or naval service, apply for permanent government insurance without first applying for term insurance.

Steel Workers Bring Show-Down in Strike

The nation and world are watching results in the big steel strike now under way, many experts predicting that this is at least the start of the show-down which had to come before a break in living and working conditions in the U. S. could change. These pictures show scenes from the big steel centers in Pennsylvania and Ohio as the strike was launched.

On the left is a typical steel worker and his family, the first vacation he has had with them since before the war—due to the seven-day week effective in the steel industry. Upper right shows the interior of a steel mill, a big 'squeeze' roller at work. Lower picture shows a group of steel workers as they went out on strike near Pittsburg.

SEEK GOLD IN THE ARCTIC

Adventurers Are Now Prospecting the Coasts of Baffin Bay and Davis Strait.

One of the really pathetic stories of modern history is the mutiny of Henry Hudson's crew when he was exploring the arctic waters of North America, and his abandonment, with his son, in that vast inland sea that bears his name, a writer in the Brooklyn Eagle remarks. Many lives have been sacrificed in the quest of the North and South poles. Sir John Franklin and the Jeannette's parties in the north and the recent Scott expedition at the south only need be mentioned.

Plans are afoot to open up the Baffin bay region to commerce. For many years small steamers have been making summer visits to Hudson bay to trade with the natives, and the Canadian government is building a railway to one of its ports. Railroad and commercial development of Alaska by American enterprise has caused prospecting of the mineral resources of the coasts of Baffin bay and Davis Strait with the hope of finding at the latter place a sufficient quantity to justify development, and coal on a low quality along the latter. The latitude is about the same as that of the Yukon region and only a few degrees north of that of Nome, which has developed into a large community. So tempting is the lure of gold that the hardships of an arctic climate will not deter adventurers from hazarding their lives against the wealth said to be buried under the eternal snow and ice of Baffin Island.

CHAUNCEY'S TURN TO LAUGH

Close-Fisted Farmer Learned Something About the Value Legal Lights Set on Services.

Chauncey M. Depew, in writing the story of his first law case, was in Peckskill. The client was a farmer and he wanted an opinion on certain property rights.

Depew spent a week in looking up the points of law that had bearing on the case and when he had finished charged the modest fee of $5.

"Too much," cried the farmer.

"But it's taken me a whole week to prepare this," protested Depew.

"Don't make no difference," declared the farmer. "I figure $1.50 is all it's worth and that's all you're going to get."

About a week later the man came to the office again.

"Mr. Depew," he said, "I had some business and your opinion of a week ago."

GETTYSBURG EVIDENCE FOR GETTYSBURG PEOPLE

The Statements of Gettysburg Residents Are Surely More Reliable Than Those of Utter Strangers

Home testimony is real proof. Public statements of Gettysburg people carry real weight. What a friend or neighbor says compels respect.

The word of one whose home is far away invites your doubts. Here's a Gettysburg statement. And it's for Gettysburg people's benefit.

Such evidence is convincing. That's the kind of proof that backs Doan's Kidney Pills.

Geo. E. Stover, 147 Hanover St., says: "About a year ago I had trouble with my back and kidneys. There was stiffness and a bearing-down ache just over my hips. My kidneys acted too often after the slightest cold. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and got some at the People's Drug Store. Doan's quickly gave me fine benefit. I haven't had to use any kidney medicine since and I believe the results are permanent."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Stover had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Tawney had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

I took it down to New York and showed it to Mr. —. And what do you think he charged me. Just for reading that opinion of yours and putting his O. K. on it?" "How much," demanded Depew, all excited. "Five hundred dollars!"

Canada's Bird Refuge.

It is something for one bird to tell another that Canada has created a series of reserves in the province of Quebec where birds are safe from man-made troubles.

Unlike most bird refuges, Perce Rock, a picturesque island near Perce village; the east and north cliffs of Bonaventure island, three miles further away; and the northernmost of the Magdalen islands, 124 miles out to sea, have been set apart specifically to protect birds whose value to mankind is chiefly their beauty as a part of nature.

There is no attempt to argue, for example, that the gannet, the kittiwake, or the razorbill auk should be protected because they "help the farmer"; they are protected simply because they are birds.

No human being may steal an egg from their nests; no weapon dangerous to their welfare may be brought within a mile of their island sanctuaries.

Naturally all other birds are equally safe and the refuges will be a help toward carrying out the purpose of the international treaty for bird protection.

Yellowstone Park Grows.

Yellowstone national park is expected to grow 1,265 square miles larger as soon as the present congress reaches a bill neglected by the last session. The proposed extension, 30 miles to the south of the established boundary, as described in Popular Mechanics magazine, takes in Jackson lake and the wonderful mountain scenery about it, part of the famous Jackson's Hole country.

Besides providing the only variety of scenic beauty now lacking in the park, the addition includes the summer grazing ground of America's last large herd of elk, and some of the finest trout-fishing water in the country.

Fish Had False Teeth.

A fish wearing false teeth was hooked in the Gulf of Mexico, near Indian Rocks, Fla., by A. L. Anderson of Independence.

Judge Anderson was invited to go out in a boat with H. P. Ingersoll, a well known resident of Indian Rocks. During the day they brought up a specimen of the "swell road" or burfish variety.

As the hook was pulled out it brought with it a front plate with four false teeth attached to a gold bridge.

Later it was learned by the astonished fishermen that a few days before a visitor from Oldsmar, a nearby resort, had dropped his teeth while bathing.—Kansas City Star.

Had Advanced Rates.

Whenever Warren went on an errand for auntie she invariably gave him a penny for a stick of candy. Last week she sent him to the drug store and upon his return, with the desired article she, as usual, remunerated him with a penny.

"Till 'cept this on account," compromised Warren.

"What do you mean by that?" demanded auntie.

"My charge for running an errand has gone up to a nickel," independently explained Warren. "Don't forget that the price of candy has been raised now."

All the Kitten's Fault.

My father and mother were married at St. Paul. The room in which they were to be married had a white cloth tacked down over the carpet and an altar arranged at one side.

Just before the wedding party entered a little black kitten ran into the room and jumped about on the white cloth and in front of the altar until some one drove it out. Some said it was a sign of bad luck, but the others laughed at their superstition.

The couple traveled to Chicago on their honeymoon. The night they arrived the old cow kicked the lamp over and Chicago burned up. They lost their entire wardrobe, and all their money, barely escaping with their lives.—Exchange.

Widows Are Wonderful.

"I love you! I love you!" he murmured for the nineteenth time. "Speak! Answer me!"

The maiden coyly hung her head. "—oh, John, this is so sudden!" she pleaded.

He drew her closer to him.

"Don't be afraid, darling!" he said gently. "Would you like me to ask your mother first?"

With a cry of alarm she threw her arms round his neck.

"No, no!" she gasped. "Mother is a widow. I want you for myself!"

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

Home Service.

One of the finest constructive activities of the American Red Cross in the war was Home Service in the United States, the friendly connecting link between the soldier far from home and his loved ones. This branch of the work which under the peace program of the Red Cross will be expanded to benefit all who need the assistance it can provide, is directed by scientifically trained social workers. Since instituted Home Service has assisted 800,000 soldiers' and sailors' families. This photograph shows one of the innumerable Home Service information bureaus where service men and their families could bring their problems for solution.

DEATHS.

Mary Jane Ramsburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marian Ramsburg, of Frederick, died at the home of her parents on last Saturday aged 2 years, 6 months and 27 days. She is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Cluck, of Breckenridge street. The funeral was held on Tuesday morning. The body was brought to Gettysburg and interment made in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Edward Day, of East Berlin, died from pneumonia on Tuesday in the state hospital at Harrisburg, where she had been a patient for two weeks. She was about 55 years old. She leaves a husband and five children.

U. B. Pastors Get Appointments.

At the 130th session of the Pennsylvania Annual Conference of the United Brethren in Christ Churches, held in Hanover this past week, the following appointments for Adams county were made. Rev. W. R. Glenn has been returned to the Gettysburg church and was also made a member of the committee on Church Extension. Bendersville. Rev. Guy C. Stambaugh, Biglerville. Rev. P. O. Shettle and Rev. E. L. Hughes to Littlestown. Rev. D. J. March was returned to the neighboring charge at Taneytown.

Dirt Flying in Buford Avenue.

The William P. McDonald Construction Company of Philadelphia is making dirt fly on Buford avenue as fast as the rather difficult work there permits. The street always has had a goodly supply of iron stone or what is called "niggerhead" stone and they are hard to handle and the getting them out requires going down deeper than specifications. Wm. P. McDonald, head of the company, came to town this week for purpose of speeding up the work and the concrete mixer is expected to be here this week and the concrete material next week. The company has leased the Washington House where they are taking care of their workmen.

Memorial.

Mrs. Anna MacMillan has announced her purpose to arrange and ornament the Methodist church yard as a memorial to her husband, the late Oscar D. MacMillan. A landscape gardener will be consulted and advise as to the making over of the yard. It will likely be protected on every side by a hedge and then given an ornamental treatment, so that instead of being a homely spot it will be an attractive place and a most appropriate memorial.

Town Properties Sold.

The two Chambersburg street properties belonging to the estate of Martin Winter, deceased, were sold at public sale on Wednesday. Property No. 1 on the first square, occupied by the Brehm Tailoring establishment and the office of Miss Mary Ramer, was bought by the local lodge of Patriotic Order Sons of America for $9,000.

Property No. 2 on the second square of Chambersburg street, occupied by Harry Gilbert, was bought by David Riley, of Hanover, formerly of this place, for $4,400.

Mrs. Hannah L. Plank, of Buford avenue, has sold to Wm. H. Tipton, Chambersburg street, two building lots on the south side of Buford avenue at private sale.

IRON SPRINGS.

Samuel Walter had his wagon shed torn down on his farm last week. It was built over 70 years ago and a new one will be erected. Cyrus Fissel, Jesse Hoffman and Harry Heintzelman are doing the carpenter work.

Ralph Brenizer and John Gonder while walking over Mr. Brenizer's fields near Fairfield Station one day recently saw four deer grazing in their upper field.

Mr. and Mrs. Brenizer took in the York Fair and also visited relatives at the same place several days last week.

The grit mill at Maria Furnace is running in full blast and there at least 40 to 50 men employed during the day and night.

W.H. Musselman is improving his buildings by having a new roof put on his house.

Hon. Edward Martin, State Commissioner of Health, has appointed Dr. Bruce McCreary, of Shippensburg, Supervising Medical Director, having charge of medical inspection of the schools of Adams, Cumberland, Franklin and Perry counties. The Story of a Turret Captain Promotion in the Navy comes quickly to those who qualify for higher ratings. In March 1899 A. P. Wilson enlisted in the Navy as an Apprentice Seaman, 3rd class. In April 1907 he was rated Chief Turret Captain. His pay today is $165.76 per month.

Reel them off—"Rio" Gibraltar, Ceylon, Yokohama—all the great ports of the world—are they only places on the map to you—or are they ports where you've gone sailing in from the high seas with every eye along the shore turned admiringly on your big ship—your ship! Every ocean has a United States ship sailing for some port worth seeing.

If you've any call in you for a full life—join, and color all your years ahead with memories of things worth seeing—with knowledge worth having—with an inexhaustible fund of sea tales and adventures picked up at every port.

Work?—sure, and a man's work it is, among men.

Play?—well, rather, with a bunch of men who know how to play. These comrades of yours carry in their ears the sounds of great world cities, of booming guns, of swashing seas—sounds you will share with them and that will never die away.

And when you come home, you'll face life ashore with level eyes—for Uncle Sam trains in self-reliance as well as self-respect. The Navy builds straight men—no mollycoddles.

Ryde's Egg Mash

"Makes Them Lay"

That's what you want at the price of eggs to-day. Makes every hen a payer by producing eggs nearly all the time instead of about half the time. Eggs is a question of feed. Give hens egg-producing feed and they will produce the eggs. No feed, or the wrong kind of feed, means no eggs.

Ryde's Egg Mash

is an unequalled egg producer, containing animal and vegetable nutrition in the correct proportions to produce results. No guess work or experimenting on the part of the feeder. The increased egg yield overcomes the cost of the mash.

More Eggs, Better Eggs, Bigger Eggs

Try a bag to-day on those hens that are backward and you will be more than pleased with the results.

Ryde's Cream Call Meal

is the best substitute for milk in feeding all young stock. It supplies them with all the food value found in whole milk in just as digestible a form and in the correct proportions. It does them just as much good as whole milk and you save more than half the feed bill. Every pound makes one gallon of gruel, or rich, nutritious, perfect milk substitute. You take no chances.

The Last Shall Be Best

By A. W. PEACH

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Norman Milroy, on entering the room, found his friend seated before the grate of the fireplace into which he was slowly feeding bits of torn paper. His whole attitude was that of a man performing a solemn rite, and doing it sadly, albeit with some degree of distaste.

"Hello, Carey, why the air of grief?" was Milroy's greeting.

Carey looked up with a quick glance, and Milroy's curiosity was further increased by the mingled light of regret and anger in his friend's eyes.

Carey continued to shuffle the torn bits of paper into the fire which licked up the fragments. Another glance told Milroy that Carey was burning letters—letters written in a small, feminine handwriting, and one that he himself recognized with a start as that of the girl whom they had both met that summer. She had seemed to favor Carey, and Milroy had retired as gracefully as he could after he discovered that her dark eyes had for him no light that is the most wonderful of all on earth.

Shocked into seriousness by what he had discovered, he said hesitatingly: "But those bits look like the remnants of letters. Something wrong?" Carey said nothing for a moment, then muttered sharply: "That's what they are—letters. I'm making a bonfire of the letters Mildred wrote me—and that's just what they are good for."

Milroy's heart jumped. If something had come between his friend and the girl they both loved, there might be a chance for him, for next to Carey, Milroy knew she had seemed very friendly to him.

"What is the trouble, old chap, something that can be straightened out?" Milroy asked.

Carey shook his head with a growl. Knowing the ways of his good-hearted but quick-tempered friend, Milroy said nothing but waited.

A moment later the crouching figure handed up a small letter, and Milroy took it. He recognized the fine handwriting, the girlishly formed letters, and the memory of them as he had seen them in brief notes to him came back with a rush with memories of her.

He went to the window and opened the letter. The chill of the first line struck him first. Instead of the loving terms which a loved one might be expected to use, there was the gaunt, cold, formal: "My Dear Mr. Myron." From that cool greeting, hardly one that a girl would send to her lover, Milroy's eyes ran on to the body of the letter. It began: "I feel that it is time that you and I came to an understanding," and it went on to state in cold terms her idea of his behavior. Undoubtedly it was a letter that severed the relations between them.

Rising from before the grate, Carey looked at him with mournful eyes. "There's the end of a summer's dream; and why it should be I don't know. My confounded hot temper made me write things a while ago that I did not mean. She failed to keep an engagement with me—went off with an old beau and left me in the lurch. I wrote a bit hotly about it. I'm done—and I suppose it is your chance. I know how she regards you."

Milroy stopped his reading. "If you have lost interest in her—"

"Lost interest in her," Carey said sharply. "Man, I love her more than I ever did, but no man with any sense of honor can be true to himself by getting down on his knees after getting a note of that kind."

Milroy started to say: "If a man loves a girl enough, he will get on his knees—or even do more than that," but knowing his friend he said nothing.

"Throw the letter into the fire—with the rest of 'em—that's where it belongs," said Carey shortly. "I'll be sorry for the whole affair before it is over, but that's the way I feel now."

Milroy started to hand the fateful letter to Carey, who took it in his hand and then paused. He looked at him with missing eyes. "I have always thought you were the chap for her. I know you have been out of touch with her since our engagement. You mean as well start in where I left off. Take the letter along; her new address is on it, and you can write her. I am done. I'm going to get out for a month's hunting trip in Maine, and when I come back, you can let me give you a dinner. I'm done with all this business—a man in love is like an animal off his feed. And I have been off my feed and my trolley ever since last June."

Milroy tucked the letter into his coat, at the same time making an attempt to cheer up his gloomy friend, yet knowing that the golden opportunity lay before him.

From the apartment he hurried out, after vainly endeavoring to let a little sunshine into his friend's mood. The small envelope in his pocket with the precious address seemed to be warm and comforting with hope.

He could not resist the temptation to draw it out, and as he walked he turned to it again. Again the cold, formal greeting came into view; and once more, he read on, reading the cold lines that had led Carey to make a sacrifice of his cherished love letters and to decide to hurry to his Maine camp long before the best season was at hand.

Then Milroy stopped short as he turned a page. There was a sudden break, a space of white, and the letter began again: "My Dear—You see how really cold-hearted I can be if I want to, don't you? And I guess the preceding part of my letter has given you a good scare. Really, if I did not know how fine-hearted you are, I could not forgive, but—"

Milroy went cold. The mistake was plain; the little joyous game she had been playing was evident. She had written the first part of the letter in the cold mood as a little lesson for Carey; he had read no further, but in his quick, impulsive way had reasoned that their love dreams were over. If he had read on, he would have found all the tenderness a charitable girl-heart, deeply in love, can have for the one beloved.

Milroy stood breathless as the thought came to him: I can keep this letter, and Carey and she need never know. The next moment he cursed himself for the thought, turned, and to the wonder of the passerby, hurried at a rapid pace down the street.

He entered Carey's apartment, to find him morosely packing his bags. Carey looked up wonderingly, and Milroy held out the letter.

In the familiar, if impolite language of long friendship, he said shortly: "You blundering idiot, when you get a love letter, why don't you read all of it? Now take that letter and—read it!"

And Milroy sat down to enjoy the spectacle.

Wouldn't Stand for It. By way of providing a little exercise for its hundreds of girl employees, officers of the ordnance corps in Washington arranged last summer a series of daily military drills for the fair young war workers. It was a great success until a girl, who hadn't left her dignity behind when she went to the capital from Peoria, protested to a group of her mates that she hadn't given all to the government when it needed her, just to be insulted.

"I'm a lady," she said, "and I don't propose to stand in line out there and have anybody—even if he is an officer and has a gold bar on his shoulder—call me fresh names. I'm surprised that you girls stand it."

"Why, what's the matter, Ethel?" one of her surprised friends demanded. "I was with you all afternoon, and I didn't see a thing out of the way. Everything was perfectly lovely."

"Lovely!" Ethel cried. "Lovely! Didn't you hear that lieutenant stand there and yell 'Squads right' and 'Squads left' every few minutes? Nobody can call me a squab and get away with it!"—San Francisco Chronicle.

Candid Weather Forecaster.

At last is found a scientific weather forecaster who candidly confesses that he knows no more about any weather than that is to come, or indeed that has passed, than the man in the moon. This unprecedented winter, with almost no snow in the city, and hardly any cold, is in sharp contrast with last winter when the mercury registered, in December, 13 below. This only shows, he says, that extremes follow each other "sometimes." As for figuring future weather, he says there are two ways to calculate; one is that the average will be kept good; the other is that it will not be. "If the first half has been above the average, it is likely those same conditions will continue for an indefinite period—hence, it is probable that the second half will also be above the average; one conclusion is exactly opposite to the other and one is just as reliable as the other." There you have the confession and repentance full and complete.

Her Brakes "Froze" in June.

The woman driver brought her car into the service station. "My brakes don't seem to stop the car at all," she said. "I wish you would see if you can tell me what is the matter. I can't push the pedal down very far, but the brakes don't work."

The service manager called a man and had him look at the brakes and he discovered a very common trouble—the owner had been neglecting to oil two small rods that act as a pivot for the brake mechanism. As a result they were rusted or "frozen" together solid. "Your brakes are frozen, Mrs. Jones," said the service manager. "If you will leave the car in the shop we can fix it up for you in an hour or so."

"My brakes are frozen up!" exclaimed the owner. "I can understand how the radiator can freeze in December, but I am utterly at a loss to understand how brakes can freeze in June."

His Future Brother.

A widower, who was a minister and father of a small son of nine, married a widow with a boy about the same age as his own son. The two boys acted as paces at the wedding. As the boys were going down the church aisle the guests were convulsed on hearing the minister's son say to his future brother: "You wait till we get outside and I'll lick you!"

LODGES THINK WELL OF NEW SECURITY

Many Orders Investing Funds in Quick Redeemable Treasury Saving Certificates.

Among the fraternal organizations in the Third Federal Reserve District which have been investing their lodge funds in the new U. S. Treasury Saving Certificates are the Knights of Malta, Knights of Pythias, Improved Order of Red Men, Patriotic Order Sons of America, Jr. Order United American Mechanics, Foresters, of America, and Order of Independent Americans. There are about 3500 lodges in the 60 Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware counties of the Third District and the War Savings Division has been interesting them in the advantages, from the lodge standpoint, of placing their funds in this new government security.

Many letters have been received from officers of lodges endorsing the certificates as the ideal investment for lodges. A trustee of one of the most prominent Knights of Pythias lodges in Pennsylvania said he considers the issuance of the certificates one of the biggest things the War Savings Division has achieved.

"These certificates exactly fit the needs of lodges," said this trustee. "Their absolute safety coupled with high interest rate and speedy redemption, privilege make them the most attractive investment I know of for the funds of any organization which requires to have a string to its money so that it may be quickly recalled in case of emergency."

Treasury Savings Certificates are issued in the denominations of $10, $20, $50, $100, $500 and $1000. Any sum up to $1000 can be invested by a lodge in one year. The certificates are being sold in October at the rate of $84.20 per $100. If held until January 1, 1924, they will be redeemed at full face value, $100 or multiples thereof. Should a lodge need its money back at any time, its certificates will be redeemed upon 10 days' notice at full cost price plus 3 per cent interest. The value and interest are guaranteed by the United States Government. They are not subject to market fluctuations.

Certificates are obtainable at post offices and at all incorporated banks and trust companies. The War Savings Division, 1431 Walnut street, Philadelphia, will supply further information upon request.

NEW SAVING PLAN AIDS WAGE EARNERS

More Than 1400 Government Savings Associations Now Active in the Third Federal District.

More than 1400 Government Savings Associations are now operating in the Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware counties of the Third Federal Reserve District. These associations are located in business and industrial centers and have a total membership of over 200,000.

The members are regularly saving and investing through the purchase of Government Thrift and Savings Stamps. The largest of these associations has several thousand members and its total investment at a single pay runs from $3000 to $4000.

The Government Savings Association plan is a very simple one. It is designed to make saving an easy and convenient process and for that reason is meeting with great favor among workers. There are no dues, no fines, no meetings, and no record is kept of individual accounts. The ease of saving by the method now introduced goes far to instill thrift as a permanent habit and the returns in various plants show that many workers who previously were very improvident are methodically and regularly putting by considerable sums.

In one small concern eleven men were interested in the plan and it was figured that in six months they were likely to save about $175. They actually saved more than $2000 in that time, as much to their own as to others' surprise, and two of them bought homes, using their investment in Government Savings Stamps to make the initial payments.

The War Savings Division, with headquarters at 1431 Walnut street, Philadelphia, is introducing the association plan into practically all leading business and it is meeting with the commendation of both the employers and the employees. Literature relating to the plan and suggestions to promote its introduction in any line of business are obtainable upon request.

NO MORE HAND GRENADE BANKS

As the War Department has determined that the distribution of hand grenades as souvenirs be discontinued, and has cancelled the arrangement for supplying grenades to the Treasury Department to be manufactured into grenade savings banks, the Treasury Department is unable to continue the distribution of the banks. In order, however, to recognize the efforts of the children in working and saving during the vacation time, each one who would be entitled to a bank will receive a Certificate of Achievement from the Treasury in appreciation of his or her industry in saving and buying government securities.

War Savings Division, 3rd Federal Reserve District.

It cuts the thick, choking mucus, clears away the phlegm, opens air passages and eases hoarseness. The gasping, strangling fight for breath gives way to quiet breathing and peaceful sleep. Even a blouse suit can be slim and straight when cut on such clever lines as this one of Duxet de Laine. Note the marie fur collar and how black silk embroidery finishes front and back.

The "Last Word" In Suits And Coats

THE newest suits and coats have just arrived and bring with them the most authentic news about the approved silhouette, favored materials and popular trimmings.

Both coats and suits insist on the straight line. Coats have rebelled against the old idea that to be warm they must be bulky. This year coats of warm soft fabrics fall straight from shoulder to hem.

The "Grenoble" is one of the most interesting Wooltex designs—it flares smartly on both sides and remains flat at front and back.

Wooltex suits are divided into four distinct and individual types with many variations of novel embroideries, odd stitchery and clever paneling. There's the severe "Tailleur," the Blouse, the trimmed Tailor-Made and the Country Suit; which means that you can find the newest style tendencies interpreted in your own type.

We recommend Wooltex, because the Wooltex label promises superior fabrics so carefully tailored that the correct lines remain throughout the season.
